Vandalism-proof

Vandalism-resistant sports and playground equipment is ideal for use in public places, as it is designed to withstand many stresses and strains: wind and bad weather, rough playing conditions and even attempts to destroy the apparatus.
Protect your unattended public areas, such as sports fields, playgrounds or parks, from vandalism by equipping it with vandalism-proof sports and playground products that are designed to withstand these challenges and even to cope with the toughest of uses.

Wood or metal?

This is a key question to consider before purchasing new playground equipment. The equipment's intended use, where it will be set up and the load placed on it are all relevant to the decision. The types of wood we offer all meet the requirements for any kind of use.
Wood is very popular in playgrounds in rural settings and a great choice for children, whilst metal is a very strong material and extremely resistant to vandalism.

Outdoor fitness

Exercising is best enjoyed in the fresh air. It is therefore hardly surprising that outdoor fitness equipment is becoming more and more popular. The outdoor gym is becoming a meeting point for burning excess energy, especially in public places.

An outdoor gym is easy to build using a variety of individual elements.
